

QUESTION

Is there an agreed police procedure for handling incidents at Stepping Hill hospital? In particular are the police expected to investigate by a visit or is a telephone call to security considered sufficient response to a "999" call"

RESPONSE:

There is no agreement with the police other than the same as any member of the public requiring Police Assistance. The Police will carry out their own investigations of crimes that are reported to them, this may involve making a phone call to Wards, Departments and or security to obtain further information, if the Police feel that is a feasible way forward to start the investigation.
